

EAST SIDE ENTHUSIASTIC OVER THE EVENING WORLD 'HELP YOUR NEIGHBOR PLAN'

People Join Heartily in Campaign for Cleanliness in Combating Infantile Paralysis--Women and Children of Tenements Use Soap and Brushes.

Unexpected enthusiasm was shown by householders to-day in The Evening World's "Help Your Neighbor Clean-Up Campaign," which was started yesterday with the idea of thoroughly cleansing neighborhoods where cases of infantile paralysis have been reported.

On the lower east side women and girls were to be seen busy themselves with pails of water, brushes and mops, while boys were industriously hauling rubbish and filth out of alleyways and cellars of tenement houses. An Evening World reporter who went through the sections where the neighborhood clean-up brigades were at work found that more than 100 tenement houses had been thoroughly overhauled by the tenants, acting independently of the Street Cleaning or Tenement House Departments, and marvellous results were to be noted.

Compact organizations of volunteer workers against the spread of infantile paralysis in infected districts are being formed as the result of The Evening World's campaign. Here are the results of one day's work in the "Help Your Neighbor" movement: Mothers of the east side formed an organization under the auspices of the East Side Protective Association and established headquarters at No. 55 Pitt Street.

A MUSTLING LANDLORD AND HIS MODEL TENEMENTS.

M. I. Aronson, a real estate and insurance man of No. 73 Bayard Street, who controls thirty-two tenement houses on the lower east side, set all of his tenants to work in cleaning out their homes and appointed the janitors of the buildings as watchers to see that the "Help Your Neighbor" job was a thorough one in each house. The result was that Aronson's tenants were as neat as the proverbial tin.

Joseph G. Munro of the De Rosa Pharmacy at the northwest corner of Cherry and Catherine Streets, and Hyman Poon, a druggist at No. 56 Market Street, enrolled themselves as volunteer workers in the "Help Your Neighbor" campaign, pledging that they would personally talk to parents living near them, explain the danger to children in the present epidemic and tell how a spread of the disease might be checked by proper cleaning-up precautions and simple sanitary measures.

The Jewish Kaddish decided on a campaign of education against infantile paralysis, as did the Henry Street Settlement.

In Brooklyn the following organizations are conducting clean-up campaigns: The Musko School Settlement, which is studying sanitary conditions in the neighborhood of Classon Avenue and Dean Street; the Little Italy Neighborhood Association, which is conducting a "Help Your Neighbor" campaign; the Willow Place Chapel, which has special nurses and two volunteer workers in the field; and the PUSHCART PEDDLERS MUST KEEP THEIR WARES CLEAN. ## ITCHING SCALP SCALY AND SORE

So Severe Caused Sore Eruptions. Seemed Worse At Night. Hair Came Out. After Ten Years

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My trouble began with an itching scalp which was scaly and sore. The itching was so severe that it caused sore eruptions on my head which often bled from scratching, and would dry up and become scaly. The trouble seemed to be worse at night and I spent many sleepless nights, and my hair came out so I feared I would be bald."

"I tried a number of remedies with no good results until I tried a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The itching immediately stopped so I bought more and I used two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and I was healed after ten years' suffering." (Signed) Mrs. H. S. Robbins, 30 Park Place, Lynbrook, N.Y., Jan. 1, 1916.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

SCOURGE DEATHS AND CASES SHOW SLIGHT DECREASE

41 Fatalities and 108 Victims Reported To-Day in Greater City.

BIG CLEAN-UP TO GO ON.

East Side Mothers Join Crusade of Evening World for Spotless Town.

A falling off from yesterday in the number of deaths and new cases of infantile paralysis was shown in today's figures as given out by the Health Department. Forty-one deaths were recorded against forty-five yesterday. There were 108 new cases as compared with 115 yesterday.

General commendation was expressed to-day by city officials and physicians interested in the paralysis fight over The Evening World's "Help Your Neighbor Clean-Up Campaign." On Monday a mother's clean-up day will take place on the east side and during the week mass meetings are to be held for the purpose of explaining how to take preventative measures against paralysis. Following are tables showing the number of deaths and new cases of paralysis, compared with those of yesterday:

Representatives of the American Society for the Prevention of Infantile Paralysis held a conference at the Rockefeller Institute this morning for the purpose of discussing the epidemic.

Health Commissioner Emerson busied himself to-day formulating plans for a twice-a-week house-to-house canvass for paralysis cases. He recommended that a conference of experts which closed its sessions yesterday. It is expected that the canvass will begin next week.

Most of the doctors remained in the city to-day to continue their studies of the situation.

60 More Cases in New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 5.—Sixty-nine new cases of infantile paralysis were reported throughout New Jersey to-day, making the total 881.

Newark 16, Jersey City 3, Orange 4, Belleville 2, Irvington 2, Town of Union 2, Perth Amboy 2, Paterson 2, Millburn 2, West Orange 2, Bayonne 2, Hillside 2, Union County 2, and 1 each in Bergen County, Chester Township, Burlington County; Nutley, Hoboken, Del Rio Township, Burlington County; North Bergen, West New York, Clinton Township, Hunterdon County; Spring Lake, Devon Township, Morris County; Randolph Township, Morris County; Elizabeth, Summit and Asbury Park.

CLEANLINESS OBTAINED BY FORCE OF GOOD EXAMPLE.

An Evening World reporter made an inspection of the tenement houses of which Volunteer Worker Aronson was centering his energies. Aronson is a man who likes to have things done in a hurry and to see them done well.

"Come with me," he said as he called stout, smiling Italian woman appeared in the doorway of a flat on the second floor. Half a dozen children, all neatly dressed, were in the flat where furniture was piled up at random.

"New tenants," Aronson explained, "I've told you about cleaning up, but you haven't done it. Haven't you?"

"Clean them up?" replied the smiling woman. "Ah, gracia—sure thing. We have cleaned them up. The flat, it is clean. All clean. Clean. Clean. Ah, Meester Aronson, it seems nice to be this way—'tis fine!"

Aronson went hustling through the upper floors, always with the same result. The women folks seemed to take on his enthusiasm. They did not try to conceal their pleasure when he praised them and they sighed and raised their hands when they told of the work they had done.

"But it was worth the trouble," they all agreed.

"Look here," said Aronson to the reporter. "All clean. Clean. Clean. Here he pointed to the area-way of No. 41 Bayard Street, which was filled with refuse.

"Know what the difference is?" he continued. "I found it into the janitor and the tenants that they mustn't throw stuff out the window. I tell them of the danger that they might lose their kiddies. They don't do it."

Next he went to the roof of the building, a roof of ragging and acridly clean, where a dozen kids were playing. Across the roof he walked to another building, at No. 43 Bayard Street. Here too the flats and hallways were devoid of dirt and the tenants seemed to take great pride in what had been accomplished by their individual efforts.

"Come in," said Mrs. Charles Sanders, a bride of two weeks, dark-eyed, olive-skinned and showing perfect teeth as she smiled. "Come in and see our home. We fixed it up great. Say, won't Charlie be glad when he comes home from work and sees it?"

"Charlie" certainly had reason to be glad, what with a winning wife and a clean home.

LITTLE MOTHER BITTEN BY DOGS HAS THREE BROTHERS TO NURSE

MAZIE LYNNE

BITTEN BY DOGS, BUT CAN'T GO TO HOSPITAL

Little Mother, Seven Years Old, Has to Look After Three Brothers.

Although scarred for life, five-year-old Mary Minnaugh probably will survive the attack made on her by two savage bulldogs in a lot on East One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Street. She is being attended in Harlem Hospital.

Charles Agello, superintendent of the Park View apartments, who owns the animals, was fined $10 in Harlem Court because he had no license for them. The little girl's father, who is a guard on the Second Avenue elevated, says if there is a law that will reach Agello he will invoke it.

The other child attacked by the dogs was seven-year-old Mazie Lynne of No. 1313 Park Avenue. She has two wounds on her right leg, which were inflicted before she could escape from the lot. She said she couldn't afford to go to the hospital.

"You see," she explained, "my father is dead and my mother goes out to work. If they sent me to the hospital, who would look after my three little brothers?"

SUES HUSBAND AND HIS PARENTS FOR $50,000

Stenographer Who Eloped Last February With D. B. Leigh Charges Joint Alienation.

Mrs. Marie Keenan Leigh, the Brooklyn stenographer who eloped last February with Douglas B. Leigh, son of a retired merchant of Nutley, N. J., and who later declared her parents-in-law had spirited her husband away, yesterday filed a joint alienation suit against both.

The action was brought in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, and became public when Justice Benedict signed an order permitting Mrs. Leigh to serve the defendants, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Leigh, by publication. They are living outside the jurisdiction of the court.

Following the ceremony Leigh took his bride to her parents and then sought his own in the fact that they would forgive him. They did not, and that was the last Mrs. Leigh saw of her husband.

COUNT VON REVENTLOW ATTACKS AMERICANS

Wants to Kick Out Commissioners Who Distribute Relief Funds in Occupied Territories.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Writing in the Tages Zeitung, Count von Reventlow, says an Exchange Telegraph Company despatch from Amsterdam, urges the German Government to use the hope grown in occupied territories the same as if they were in Germany for feeding the German population, thus disposing, he says, of food difficulties.

"We will enable us to kick out the American commission, always unfriendly to Germany, and which gives the enemies of the fatherland much to say about the German position," the writer is declaring. "American food controllers are intolerable for Germany."

and a flat that seemed not even to have a deck to stand in.

"We're having all our houses scoured out just the same way," Aronson explained as he left No. 43 and the smiling bride. "And the tenants are doing the work and are proud of what they are doing. Maybe you've heard it said that people living on the lower east side won't clean up their homes and all that sort of rot."

"Well, the simple fact of the matter is that if one tenant is careless and not particular about dirt, the others will be the same way. But there is somebody to keep their pride aroused who can be they will keep their homes and the hallways of their buildings as clean as any mansion on Fifth Avenue is kept by servants. That's the way it goes. Their pride has got to be appealed to."

Most of the folks on the east side are poor people. Did you ever stop to think that people who have suffered a lot have more feeling in them than people who haven't? They have more pride in their children, more sympathy for their neighbors than folks who haven't got to worry about where the next meal or the rent is coming from. So if the danger of losing their children first is brought to them and their pride next is appealed to, what do they do? They clean things up and keep them clean.

"The Evening World has the right idea. This work of fighting infantile paralysis by destroying the cause has got to be done from neighbor to neighbor. I'm trying to do my part. I hope other landladies will do the same."

HUGHES IS SCORED AS SPONSOR FOR THE MEXICAN OUTRAGES

Senator Lewis, Democratic Whip, Makes Fierce Attack on Republican Machine.

BLAMES CRIME ON C. O. P.

Says Shots Fired by Republican Platform Caused Killing of U. S. Troops.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Senator Lewis, the Democratic whip, spoke in the Senate to-day in reply to the attack upon the Administration made by Charles E. Hughes in his speech accepting the Republican Presidential nomination.

Republican strictures upon the Administration's Mexican policy Senator Lewis denounced as "irresponsible." He charged that the cause of the Republican platform repudiating interference in the internal affairs of Mexico was responsible for the massacre of troops at Carrizal.

"Not until the captains of the Republican party shot at the President of the United States did the Mexican outlaws shoot at the soldiers of the American President," he said. The platform declaration, Senator Lewis characterized as a "summons to Carrizal and Villa to revenge the entrance of American soldiers into Mexico and the interference of America in her internal affairs. It was the Republican convention which slew the soldiers at Carrizal." He assailed efforts of the Republican leaders to make Mexico the issue "without regard to facts, equity or justice."

"I hope the people will have sufficient good sense to do the right thing, so that it will not be necessary for the men to show their colors," he declared. "Denounce the President as to Mexico—for that is the issue. Make contemptible your support of the government in power. Every you can—for that is the issue. Humiliate your own fellow-man by holding his country and his President up before the world as an object of the respect of foreigners."

"At last the army is summoned. The mercenary, the concessionaire, who pollutes the government in power, the support of the defenseless and the weak. The European bondholders demanding of the sovereign United States that their blood be born of robbery and whose existence is being maintained by fraud."

Several of the doctors of the mountain, the land pirates of the plains, pillagers of the people, oppressors of liberty, despoilers of homes, murderers of justice come out of you. At Carrizal you are found for you a house in which you are worshipped as God and at whose altars the innocents are to be sacrificed for you to an election holiday. This procession of blood-tainted votaries is headed now by the newly anointed chief of this political hierarchy, the nominee of the Republican convention for President of the United States, Charles Evans Hughes."

Senator Phil. Hughes, said he would like to spend every cent of the Republican campaign fund to send the Illinois Senator's address over the country.

"I have just listened to the most remarkable harangue of the kind of which I never heard or the stump, of which I never expected to hear in the halls of Congress. To reply to it would be to dignify it. The Senate belongs to that school of statesmen developed during the last three or four years, who teach the doctrine that patriotism means severity and subservience to a party leader."

AUSTRIAN ASSAULT FAILS IN TRENTINO

Rome Also Reports Gains by the Italians Toward Monte Cavellino.

ROME, Aug. 5.—"On the Poenna line (eastern Trentino) in the evening of Aug. 2 the enemy attacked our positions east of Griso, but was promptly repulsed," the War Office to-day announced. "In the Travignola Valley during the night of Aug. 3 the enemy attempted to surprise our positions, but the attack was repulsed and we gained some ground."

"To the head of the Digos torrent, in the Upper Piave (in the Carnic Alps) we extended our occupation of Cima Vallone toward Monte Cavellino. On the Isone an intense bombardment took place."

MACKENSEN JOINS VON HINDENBURG IN HALTING RUSSIANS

Great Counter Offensive Planned to Prevent Capture of Kovel and Lemberg.

CRISIS IN THE EAST.

Berlin Believes the Slav Advance Must Be Stopped at Any Cost.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Germans are massing both troops and guns on the Eastern front for a great counter-offensive under von Hindenburg, designed to stem the Russian advance against Kovel and Lemberg.

This news was received here from several neutral points to-day and was partly confirmed in despatches from Berlin. For several days troop trains have been leaving Berlin daily, carrying reserves to the Eastern front. Berlin believes the crisis of the war is approaching on the Eastern battle line and for this reason great crowds are gathering daily to bid the departing troops farewell.

Field Marshal von Mackensen, who inaugurated the great German offensive against the Russians a year ago, has joined von Hindenburg on the Eastern front. The Austrian Crown Prince, recently on the Italian front, has assumed charge of operations in Galicia.

Reports from Amsterdam to-day said the first blow probably would be struck in the southeast, where the Slavs have achieved the greatest successes. Hindenburg aiming to throw back the whole Russian line by driving in the left flank, and at the same time silencing the Roumanian leaders who have been urging King Ferdinand to join the Allies. The battle, it is believed, will gradually spread until the whole Eastern front is involved in a gigantic struggle comparable to that of early last summer.

It is too early to determine whether the strong German counter-attacks in the region east of Kovel from the beginnings of the expected Austro-German offensive. The Russian war office admits the evacuation of Rudnik, which was lately captured, under heavy Austro-German attacks, but the fighting at this point continues.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 5.—The Austrians took the initiative both in Galicia and on the Bukovina frontier yesterday and launched right counter-attacks against the Russians, who were officially announced to-day.

In Bukovina, an Austrian force estimated at nearly a division attacked small Russian detachments occupying ing the mountain passes southeast of Khotyn, in the region of the Dniester. The Russian forces were compelled to withdraw a little to the northeast before superior enemy forces.

South of Khotyn, obstinate fighting has developed along the River Sereth. Austrian forces attacked Russian detachments which had crossed the river in the region of Pustok and Holiopol, but were repulsed. On the Caucasus front Russian detachments advanced several kilometers in the region west of Kizilort. A Turkish attack near Riga was repulsed.

BRITAIN, Aug. 5.—Via London—Russian detachments which penetrated the German positions across the River Sereth near Holiopol were forced to retreat, it was officially announced in the statement given out to-day by the German Army Headquarters. Near Moldavay and Tobolsky, the statement adds, the Russians are making a stand on the southern bank of the river.

The Austrian official statement of Aug. 3 says: "Austrian cavalry of Col. Gen. Terentianovsky's army repulsed a Russian attack with the bayonet. On Aug. 2 an Austro-Hungarian aviator shot down a Russian biplane."

"Italian front. The situation is unchanged. On the Isonzo sector there was a lively enemy artillery fire."

Your Baby Infantile Paralysis

Physician who has used Alpozone for years, says: In a recent issue of the Hartford Daily Times, Hartford, Conn., there appeared an article by Dr. F. H. Williams, part of which reads as follows:

"Bristol, July 10.—Dr. F. H. Williams, who is frequently referred to as the 'Dean of Physicians,' writes of the present scourge among children in larger cities:

"There is a tablet put out by Stearns of Detroit, Mich. This tablet is made up from synthetic drugs, and is called Alpozone. I use it myself in very severe contagions. It seems to me that if the contagion of infantile paralysis comes from nasal and throat discharges, and if it is contracted from contact with these discharges upon the mucous membranes of the affected, the use of this Alpozone would be an ideal preventative means while the disease is prevalent."

"If I had any children liable to the attacks, I would use it steadily in small doses in form of gargle and nasal wash."

New York Board of Health, Rockefeller Institute, says:

The Department of Health of City of New York in their pamphlet on Infantile Paralysis says: "Experience regarding the occurrence of Poliomyelitis (Infantile Paralysis) warrants the assumption that the disease is spread by contact and carriers who may be children or adults, who are themselves immune but who harbor the infective material in their nasal and mouth secretions."

Simon Flexner, M.D., Director of Laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research said in an address on Infantile Paralysis before the New York Academy of Medicine: "The virus enters the body as a rule if not exclusively, by way of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat, having gained entrance to those easily accessible parts of the body. Multiplication of the virus occurs there, after which it penetrates to the brain and spinal cord by way of the lymphatic channels which connect the upper nasal membrane with the interior of the skull... the main avenue of the virus into the body is by way of the upper respiratory mucous membrane—that is, the membrane of the nose and throat."
